

REMOVAL OF VERGARA'S CORPSE ACROSS BORDER CAUSES APPREHENSION

PRESIDENT WILSON ANXIOUSLY AWAITS OFFICIAL REPORT FROM GOV. COLQUITT.

DENIAL FROM AUSTIN

Dispatches From Texas Capital Declare That Texas Rangers Were Not Responsible For Exhuming of Body.

Washington, March 9.—President Wilson expects a full report from Gov. Colquitt and American Consul Garrett to the manner in which the body of Clemente Vergara, an American citizen killed in Mexico, was returned to American soil.

After reading news dispatches, some saying Texas rangers had crossed into Mexico and had availed themselves of permission by the Mexican federal authorities to American Consul Garrett to recover the body, the president and Secretary Bryan conferred at length.

The president said afterward that no official information had been received and that he doubted very much whether Consul Garrett had any permission to take the body and that he would wait for a full report from Gov. Colquitt before making any comment.

No information.

The president pointed out that the Huerta government had supplied little information about Vergara, declaring simply that it would investigate but expressing the opinion that Vergara had joined the constitutionalists. Consul Garrett's dispatches have said Vergara came to his death at the hands of Mexican federalists. The president had no further advice on the Benton case.

The Latest Story.

Austin, March 9.—Texas rangers did not cross the Mexican border nor participate in the expedition by which Clemente Vergara's body was secretly exhumed from Hidalgo, Mexico, cemetery, and deposited by persons as yet unidentified on the Texas side of the Rio Grande before daylight Sunday morning, according to the official version of the Vergara incident from state capital sources today. It is claimed that this version was borne out by dispatches from Laredo, Texas, the nearest post to Hidalgo, where investigation could be made and transmitted by wire.

The president told callers that Germany's attitude toward the position of the United States in the Mexican situation had been satisfactory and that Germany had occupied a dignified position throughout. He did not believe reports he added, that Germany was disposed to complicate the situation.

Fall's Dispatch.

Senator Fall's Mexico today received the following telegram from Governor Colquitt, dated Austin, Tex., March 9. "Am just in receipt of a telegram from Captain Sanders of Laredo, Texas, stating that he had returned from Hidalgo, Mexico, with Vergara's body and now has it on American soil. Signed C. D. Colquitt, governor."

Corrected Dispatch.

The words of Captain Sanders' first telegram: "I proceeded to Hidalgo in the light of his later report to the governor are capable of two meanings," is said. Sanders is stationed at Laredo, 25 miles from the point where the body was brought across the river near Hidalgo.

To see the body Sanders and American Consul Garrett at Nuevo Laredo had to make the 45 mile trip from Laredo. Hidalgo being one of the few places in that section large enough to have a name designating its location. Sanders' telegram has been interpreted as using the words "to Hidalgo" simply to indicate a section of the border.

Hidalgo is on the Mexican side of the river, close to the American side.

Tells of Hardships.

San Francisco, March 9.—Leino, prisoner, an American refugee, is here today with his wife and five children, having arrived on the Pacific mail steamer Newport from Mexico with a story of persecution and brutality at the hands of Mexican federalists. He said he had been stripped of military properties at Jalisco valued at $100,000 and that he was compelled to pay a ransom for the return of his 17 year old son, who had been captured by federal soldiers.

Sanders' Report.

Austin, Texas, March 9.—Official interest here today in the recovering of the body of Clemente Vergara from Mexico was centered in the expected report of Captain J. J. Sanders, commanding Texas rangers at Laredo, one of the men to whom the body was given in charge and who had been actively in touch with the Vergara investigation since it developed international compass.

It was Captain Sanders' troop of rangers which was at first reported to have received the body and an official telegram from Captain Sanders to Governor Colquitt the first received by the state's department authorities gave this impression.

Tells of Trip.

"I proceeded to Hidalgo, Mexico, obtained body of Vergara," was the message given out at the executive department early Sunday night as sent by Captain Sanders from Laredo, where he took Vergara's body.

After a personal conversation with Captain Sanders over the long distance telephone at midnight, Governor Colquitt gave out a statement correcting the original telegram. This statement that the rangers had no part in the recovery from Mexico, did not cross the international line, and that the men responsible for the recovery of the body are not known.

Governor Colquitt came to his office early today in anticipation of a detailed report from Captain Sanders.

STAR IN "DAMAGED GOODS" PRAISES EUGENICS LAW IN A CURTAIN SPEECH

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., March 9.—Richard Bennett star in "Damaged Goods," delivered a severe arraignment of critics of Wisconsin's eugenics law in a curtain speech here Saturday.

He warmly praised the Wisconsin statute which prohibits marriage between persons who are not known to be free from hereditary taint. He said the law was a step toward the eradication of physical defects and a means of saving men and women from early graves, and he took no stock in the argument that they cannot be frightened by examples against the dangers of syphilis.

He said society must abandon a false modesty which will tolerate discussion of the subject only in whispers and under less offensive names.

"He is a liar and a crack, and if he were here I would hit him squarely on the nose," was Mr. Bennett's reference to a public man who recently said that 50 percent of the prostitutes in this country are girls graduated from seminaries.

NORWEGIAN EMIGRANTS PREFER SOUTHERN STATES

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Christiania, March 9.—Emigration from Norway has taken a strong turn to Mexico and the Gulf of Mexico regions of the United States, according to a governmental report issued here today. Heretofore Norwegians have with but few exceptions emigrated to Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas and the Pacific Northwest, but the trend is now said to be southward.

The Norwegian Mexican Gulf Steamship line has just greatly increased its capital to provide facilities for the new traffic.

"Intervention in Mexico should not be thought of. It would only result in a long drawn out guerilla warfare and would accomplish nothing."

So said Sir Lionel Carden, British minister to Mexico, in Washington during his recent visit there. It is believed that his views are shared by Sir Arthur Cecil Spring-Rice, British ambassador to the United States.

USE ARMY AND NAVY TO CHECK OUTRAGES SAYS SENATOR FALL

New Mexico Solon Calls For Intervention in the Interest of American Citizens and Mexican Nation.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, March 9.—Urging the use of the army and navy of the United States for the protection of Americans and other foreigners in Mexico, which he said would prevent the Senate from passing a bill today and gave a list of more than 100 outrages upon Americans including murder and rape, according to which, the senator said, he had personal knowledge.

Urges Use of Force.

"With the solemn declaration that we do not want war upon the Mexican nation or people," said Senator Fall, "that it is not our purpose to acquire territory, upset their laws nor overturn their constitution and an invitation to the masses of the Mexican people to cooperate with us, we should immediately direct the use of the army and navy of this government for the protection of our citizens and other foreigners in Mexico and lend their assistance to the restoration of order and maintenance of peace in that unhappy country."

"I might cite authority after authority and precedent upon precedent as justification under international law for such actions, but I will read from the message of the martyred McKinley with only the suggestion that we insert the name 'Mexico' in lieu of that of Cuba or Spain."

Mr. Fall read a portion of President McKinley's famous war message and then referred to President Wilson's refusal last autumn to transmit information relative to Mexico to the senate on the ground that it was inadvisable to do so.

"Abraham Lincoln thought it not incompatible with the public interest to duly inform the senate concerning communications between this government and that of France," he said. "President Cleveland thought it not incompatible with the public interest to forward to this body all papers and correspondence concerning the arrest, death, etc., of various Americans in Cuba as will be seen by reference to his special message."

Senator Fall in picturing conditions in Mexico included a vivid statement he had received today from Euterio de la Garza, who came to Washington last year in the interest of the Huerta government. From de la Garza's letter Senator Fall read:

Letter Scores Wilson.

"Those who now rule in Mexico both at the state and capital and those of the revolution are by their bloody deeds a legion of intoxicated demons, who are courting flat failure."

A large portion of the letter which followed that was a detailed attack on President Wilson's Mexican policy.

Senator Fall's list gave name, date and circumstances and was gathered from his own sources. The Benton, Vergara and Bauch killings and the death of the fifteen Americans in the "Puebla" tunnel are included in those since March 4, 1913.

Secretary Bryan when he heard of Senator Fall's charges, said he would make no statement until he had read all of the senator's speech and would, for the present, leave the administration's defense to senators.

PARK STOCKHOLDERS WILL MEET TONIGHT

Will Vote on Increasing Capital Stock of Park Association at City Hall Meeting Tonight.

All stockholders of the Janesville Park Association are urged by the directors to be present at the meeting tonight, which is to be held at the Assembly room of the city. The purpose of the meeting is to consider acting upon a resolution to amend the corporation articles by raising the capital stock to fifty thousand dollars.

The association is originally organized a figure lower than this, and as stock has been subscribed above this amount the association will have to place their capital stock at a higher figure.

The fund will be used toward the erection of buildings and improvements, but without there is a favorable attitude among the stockholders there will be no advanced step to subscribe more money.

As the meeting is an important one and business important to the fair will be brought before the meeting, all of the stockholders are urged to be present.

TO MR. ULTIMATE CONSUMER

This is an important message to you.

When quality is lowered or prices raised you are expected to pay the bills.

But to a certain extent the remedy is in your hands. You do not have to accept an inferior brand of goods or to pay more than a fair market price—for your retailer carries advertised goods and you are "right" in quality and price. If they were not right, it would not pay continually to advertise them. Advertised goods are dependable. See that you get them—and thus protect yourself.

Knowledge is power. Keep posted as to what is being offered and as to what the prices are.

The advertising in this newspaper is at your service every day in the year. It is written to you and for you.

It contains the news that is of interest to your pocketbook. It spreads the markets before you and brings the town's show- windows to your feet.

Read and profit—let some one else get the unadvertised inferior or overpriced goods, and thus pay the penalty for not "keeping informed."

Thirty-Seven Per Cent of Women Graduates are Pedagogues According to Statistics.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., March 7.—Of the 2,769 women graduates of the University of Wisconsin now living, 1,055, or 37.3 per cent, are in the teaching profession, and 224, or 6 per cent, in non-teaching vocations, results from a compilation by Katherine S. Alvord, mistress of Chabourne Hall. The figures are more significant when it is considered that 82.2 per cent of all women in gainful occupations are in teaching, and 17.6 per cent of these in gainful occupations are in twelve other occupations. Library work is next to teaching in number of graduates employed. After that, social service is represented by 2.7 per cent, clerical work by 1.6 per cent, professional work (lawyers, doctors, ministers, etc.) by 1.5 per cent, literary work by 1.3 per cent, domestic science and art (non-teaching positions) by 1.2 per cent, civil service by 1.1 per cent, agriculture by 1 per cent, business by .95 per cent, pharmacy by .6 per cent, scientific work by .32 per cent, and economic service by .08 per cent.

These figures have an additional interest inasmuch as they are in accord with statistics gathered in 1909 by the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, who reported 81.5 per cent in teaching as against 16.6 per cent in other paid occupations.

Madison, Wis., March 9.—F. K. Shuttlesworth, republican mayoralty candidate, has announced his platform for the city of Madison. It is a platform of law, not a "reasonable" enforcement, he says, but "enforcement in its fullest sense." WILLIS CRITICIZES NEW TARIFF BILL

Ohio Representative Says Democrats Are Earnest to Change Sugar States Into Cattle Territories.

[By Winfield Jones.]

Washington, D. C., March 9.—"If I were you," said Representative Willis of Ohio, fixing his eye upon a reporter, "I would write a yarn about the funniest thing in all the legislation which is now before the house, and which proves conclusively to my mind that the Democrats are as much recognized by the democrats as a failure—at least in spots."

"So would I, had I your knowledge, what's it all about?"

"Just this," The Lever agricultural bill, now under discussion by the house, carries a new item of $50,000 for experiments and demonstrations in live stock production in sugar cane and cotton districts. What does that mean? Why, simply that the democrats recognize that the sugar states will be knocked out completely when the free sugar section of the tariff act goes into effect, and they want to get the sugar plantations down there in the habit of raising cattle. Also, it means that sugar men are already giving up their plantations."

"Look at what the report on the Lever agricultural bill says of this item."

The report on that paragraph reads as follows:

"Conditions in the cane sugar producing sections have for some time been increasingly unsatisfactory to producers. This is due to the inherent climatic difficulties encountered, which have frequently caused heavy losses, either as the result of untimely frosts, which damage or destroy the crop, or as the result of overflows which retard the crop or reduce the yield. The situation in these districts is essentially that of a single-crop agriculture, which is a source of great danger to the country. The investigations of the department have indicated that the most effective way to correct this condition will be to encourage the diversification of the establishment of a live stock industry."

"For the first time in the history of the country," pursued Representative Willis, "tariff results and conditions have been blamed on the weather. Hereafter tariff bills should be referred to the weather bureau, according to this latest statement of the democratic party. The truth is apparent to all that the democrats are rushing to cover under the tariff bill."

CHILD LABOR COMMITTEE IS READY FOR CONFERENCE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, March 9.—Announcement was made here today by the National Child Labor Committee that all the details have been completed for the tenth annual national conference which will open here and at New Orleans on Sunday afternoon, March 15. The subject for discussion is "The child labor laws representing as many sections of the country have accepted invitations to attend. Many will address the conference during the sessions which will continue through Wednesday, March 18.

The two important subjects which will come before this year's conference it was stated today, will be enforcement of child labor laws and question of federal legislation with special reference to the Owen Palmer child labor bill now pending in congress.

"The backwardness of Southern states and the exemptions that weaken the laws of other states," also will be discussed in connection with today's announcement of the program. Owen R. Lovejoy, general secretary of the National Child Labor Committee issued the following appeal for funds.

"To carry out the study of methods of administration of child labor we need a larger staff, for our work will be more comprehensive than it has been in the past. The legislative battle is being fought on a double front and we are greatly increased in our line of effort it is most urgently necessary for us to follow. We should like to celebrate our Tenth Anniversary with a doubling of our membership and a total income of $100,000. Then it would be possible for us to continue our membership and present work for better child labor laws and to take up adequately the question of enforcement of the child labor laws already enacted."

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., March 9.—John Walker, 43, Englishman, of Newport, walked into the courthouse here today and asked for citizenship papers and then related some facts that made the official grasp for breath.

Walker is the father of fifteen children, in eighteen years he and his wife have been blessed with Walter, Genevieve, John, Joseph, Marie, Ralph, Laura, Helen, Jerome, William, Lucy, Anna, Robert, Frances and Dorothy. John Walker says he expects his fifteenth child, a son, to be born in the near future.

Walker and Mary Walker are twins. This month six of the Walker children celebrate birthdays. When November comes around two more will have candles and cake. The birthdays of the others are scattered through the various months.

The new senator, who is an attorney, is one of the best known men in Georgia, having served as president of the senate, and being widely known for his party service.

HUERTA IS UNABLE TO BUILD UP POWER WITH WEAK RULING

Lacks Ability to Rule Passionate Citizens With Hard Iron Fiat of Diaz—Banks Fail.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Vera Cruz, March 9.—Despite desperate attempts by Huerta to build up some semblance of the same iron handed sort of government by which Porfirio Diaz ruled for so many years, the institution the Indian dictator headed slowly grew less stable. Huerta, however, took conditions stoically. He still made his usual round of drinking places, gambling parlors and respectable houses and by the time he had been in power ten months a financial crisis was at hand.

The Banco Central was forced, one day, to close its doors because of the rush of state bank notes. The state banks were supposed to keep, in the Banco Central, sufficient funds to enable the central bank to meet payments on the state bank bills. But Huerta's policy of allowing state money could not be shipped, and without money the Banco Central was forced to refuse to recognize as valid the bills of the state banks. A run began on the bank. This run extended to other banks. Slighly appeared as gold had done, months before. The only money in sight was of paper and half of this was made up of the worthless state bank notes.

Huerta tried to solve the problem by declaring that the state bank notes were legal tender. It was estimated that anyone who refused to accept them might be arrested. But the public was not put at ease. A run was started on the Bank of London and Mexico one of the largest banks in the republic. The bank closed its doors. Huerta, to save the day, declared a bank holiday and, under this subterfuge, the Bank of London and Mexico refused to make payments on the many claims upon it.

On January 1, the sum of $32,000,000 was due from Mexican government bonds. This interest had been guaranteed by a portion of Mexican customs taxes. For many months Huerta had seen part of the customs income set aside to meet the interest and it was money of which he was in sore need. The temptation was too great for the dictator to resist. He issued a decree declaring that the interest payments would not be made for six months. And, at the same time, he seized the customs taxes for his own government.

At the end of the twelve months of Huertismo Mexico finds itself in a worse situation than it has been in since the fall of Diaz. A year of Huerta's dictatorship has meant the slaughter of thousands of Mexicans, the breaking up of the thousands of Mexican homes, the destruction of millions of dollars worth of mines, railroads, telegraph lines, bridges and businesses. It has had taken a third of the century to build or create.

The year has seen many Mexican leaders either assassinated, imprisoned or exiled. It has seen Mexico's debts repudiated. It has seen the country's financial reputation sink from the highest point to the equal of the low esteem in which the finances of the most unstable of South America republics is held.

The only bright spot in all this is that Mexico has had seen a nearer approach and inevitable downfall of Huerta. With all their silence, and they are silent through fear, the average man in Mexico hates Huerta. He has seen the slaughter of his hero for whom he will wildly cheer just as soon as he knows that he can cheer without being slain for his enthusiasm.

The proof of this fact was definitely given when the populace of the capital when news of the raising of the embargo on arms to the rebels by President Wilson was first published by the Mexican newspapers. Anti-American riots might have been expected by the populace six months since. But there was not a suggestion of Anti-American feeling in the capital. The very silence of the masses showed that they favored the action taken by the United States.

The next government of Mexico will owe its existence to the United States; there will be a great friendship between the two governments. In the end American business interests will be able to look at the matter in that narrow light, will discover that it has not lost but has gained, not only in Mexico but in all South America.

The masses in Mexico today favor President Wilson's policy. They agree with his stand that revolutions must end. They are beginning to see what President Wilson has preached and acted upon, that true government means a government of the people, for the people, by the people. They were glad to be rid of Diaz and his oppression, the rising of Huerta crushed their hopes for a time, but they see the part which the United States is playing in putting Huerta down and they are glad and thankful. In one year of Huertismo the United States has gained the friendship of the masses of Mexico, even though it does possess the enmity of the small upper class who for generations have survived by oppression which almost approached slavery.

DIRECTS TREASURER TO MAKE REMITTANCE

Attorney General Recognizes Rock
County's Claims in Janesville Reassessment Tangle.

That the attorney general recognizes the claims of Rock county in the Janesville reassessment case as just and that the state has abandoned its position of holding the county responsible, is indicated by the attorney general in a letter to District Attorney Dunwiddie covering the situation.
County Treasurer Livermore expects to receive a draft from the state treasurer for some $3,000 within a day or so, and the matter will then be settled as far as the state and county are concerned.

The attorney general's letter shows
the willingness of the state to surrender entirely to Rock county's position, and the mandamus case now pending in the Dane county circuit court will be dismissed. The letter reads as follows:
Hon. Stanley G. Dunwiddie,
District Attorney,
Janesville, Wis.

Dear Sir:—Upon a consideration of your brief filed with the court upon your application for a writ of mandamus compelling the state treasurer to turn over certain automobile license fees to Rock county, I am convinced that you are entitled to the relief asked. I am directing the state treasurer to make this remittance to the treasurer of Rock county.

It is my suggestion that when this is done you stipulate a dismissal of the case pending in the Dane county
circuit court.
If this procedure should be agreeable to you please advise me.
Very truly yours,
W. OWEN,
Attorney General.

Mr. Dunwiddie has been most diligent in his efforts to secure a settlement of this case in favor of Rock county. While this clears the slate
as far as Rock county is concerned, state officials will probably seek to press a collection from the city. City officials are known not to have abandoned the position that the state's claim is just and its collection procedure will mean a regular court procedure.

HOSPITAL NOTES.

In spite of the fact that many of the patients left the hospital yesterday for their homes there were entered by last night, so many more that it was necessary to use the waiting room. There are many cases of pneumonia, but the majority of the cases are of those who prefer waiting until warmer weather for their operations. All of the operations this winter have been remarkably successful, and the most of the patients have without exception improved rapidly afterwards. The improved facilities make the hospital as modern and efficient as most of the city hospitals in larger places.
C. S. Jackson returned to his home yesterday after several weeks
in the hospital.
Mr. Burns returned to his home in

Mrs. Hancher was returned to

HAVE PRETTY HAIR

Soft, Fluffy, Abundant—Use Parisian Sage. It Stops Falling Hair and Itching Scalp.

If your hair is not as soft and heavy as that of some friend do not despair—do as she does—give it daily attention. Beautiful hair is largely matter of care. If it is too thin, make it grow. If it is harsh and brittle, soften it up—lubricate it. If you have dandruff it is because the scalp is too dry and flakes off. Freshen up the scalp with Parisian Sage and all dandruff disappears.

Parisian Sage, sold in fifty cent bottles at drug and toilet stores, is just what you need. It quickly stops itching head, cleanses the hair of dust and excessive oil, takes away the dryness and brittleness, makes it seem twice as abundant, and beautifies it until it is soft, fluffy and lustrous.
You cannot be disappointed in Parisian Sage. Always sold by Smith Drug Co., on money back if not satisfied plan.

RAILROAD DETECTIVES FIND THAT FREIGHT CAR WAS ROBBED AT ROCKTON

Detectives employed by the Chicago,
Milwaukee and Paul railroad, unearthed proof that the merchandise car that the railroad men of Janesville discovered had been entered and valuable merchandise stolen from a dry goods shipment last week was robbed at Rockton. While working on the Beloit case of the two trains stealing the brass beams from the railroad yard scales the detectives were going back to Chicago and approaching Rockton saw suspicious shoe boxes in an open field.
Further investigation brought out evidence that the car had been entered while spotted on the merchandise transfer track at this village and the robbery was probably done by home
used to pry open the door.

GOLD AND SILVER BY THE TON.

When the work of digging the Panama Canal was at full blast pay day was a sight to see. It lasted for three days, and sixteen hundred pounds of gold and twenty-four tons of silver were required to meet the monthly pay roll. The common laborers, except the Spaniards and Italians, were paid in Panama silver. The United States agreed with the Panama government to maintain parity of Panama silver at two to one, and therefore, paid off the negro labor in it.
It was wrapped up in paper in the same way that a bank wraps small silver, some of the rolls containing twenty silver dollars, some ten, and so on. A month's wages in silver, with two dollars required to make one, made no mean bulk, and it was a sight to see the negro get down out of the pay car with a hatful of coin.

The pay train consisted of an engine and tender and the pay car. It had a regulation platform at either end, but this was for the use of the force and the American workmen.
The Spaniards and negroes had to climb up a set of steps on the one side, show their metal number check
at the door, pass on to the pay clerk, who would make each man put his hat on the counter to be filled with silver. Then he was hustled out at the opposite door, where he could count his pay at his leisure. If he found a shortage a note was made of the fact, and if the cash account was out of balance at night he was re-bursed.

The best account of pay day on the canal is to be found in that remarkable book, "The Panama Canal," by Frederic J. Haskin, of which The Janesville Gazette has a copy for you at cost. Save the coupons.

Thief-Proof Umbrella.
An umbrella made thief-proof by being locked in such a manner that it cannot be opened has been invented by a London cloak-room attendant.
The locking device consists of a metal collar, one end of which may be slipped down over the rib-tips, and is securely locked to them by revolving the three metal rings. These rings bear the letters and numbers of the secret combination.

"HOWE'S PICTURES."

"If a man can write a better book, preach a better sermon or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, though he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door." This was the quaint way in which Emerson expressed the fact many years ago that the public can be depended upon to discriminate between what is ordinary and what is extraordinary. If he was alive today he would undoubtedly raise this statement, especially if he saw Lyman H. Howe's reproduction of the Panama Canal, so that it in its modern form it would read "If a man reproduce a better moving picture than his neighbor, the world will make a beaten path to his door." For it is just because Mr. Howe has been presenting "better moving pictures" for so many years, that near-all this and much more will be shown in detail, making Mr. Howe's presentation one of inestimable importance and value to every thinking mind, young or old. No such scenes can ever be secured again in our epoch because there are no more continents to be thus severed, no more oceans to be united by such a prodigious achievement, and as this is the only time Mr. Howe will exhibit them here, it may truly be said of the engagement that it affords the opportunity of a life time. The program will include many other big new features.

"PEG O' MY HEART." Theatergoers will have their first opportunity of seeing Oliver Morosco's production of J. Hartley Manners' comedy of youth, "Peg O' My Heart," Laurette Taylor's perpetual success which is now in its second year at

of the western gold fields, in three parts. Here is the kind of picture every body likes. It sparkles with action and the plot centers around a pretty girl. The story opens with a scene showing Winters, an old pioneer gold miner, on his deathbed, revealing to his daughter, Bessie, the hiding place of the papers which will establish her claim to the Western Star mine, worth a million dollars. Bessie sends a telegram to her brother, Jack, back east, asking him to come west at once. The story that follows reveals the plot of a scheming lawyer to secure control of the mine with the assistance of a band of bandits. Jack comes but does not meet his sister until success has crowned her efforts, towards which he had unknowingly lent his aid.

There is action in every part of this startling Warner's feature. It is one of the new type of western pictures. The plot is gripping and the interpretation is by an all-star company. A genuine treat.

Garrison's Philosophy. The truth that we utter is impalpable, yet real; it cannot be thrust down by brute force, nor pierced with a dagger, nor bribed with gold. The cause that we espouse is the cause of human liberty, formidable to tyrants, and dear to the oppressed, throughout the world.—William Lloyd Garrison.

Might Be So-Called. "Isn't it an insult to call me a so-called, bow-legged porcupine?" asked an applicant for divorce.

Biologists See Nation's Decay, Declares Eugenist; Calls "Two Child System" Ruinous to the Race

By A. E. Wiggam.

The American college graduate is a dying race. The American business man of the old stock will soon be as extinct as the great auk and the dodo. Says one writer, "If America wants babies it will soon have to buy them." France is offering prizes to mothers of more than two.

A. E. Wiggam.

But it is not education that causes race-suicide. The American college graduate is giving us two children per family, while the business man is giving us but one and eight-tenths! One investigator found fifteen city residence blocks in New York with but fifteen children. In another section among 485 families there were but 54 children. One child to nine families! The writer is familiar with one block in an Indiana town of business men's homes with sixteen children in sixteen families. In another town the ten most prominent families have but eight children. One reported in California of ten thousand is reported to have produced but one baby in six months!

But the old cry goes up, "quality and not quantity." It is the cry of ignorance. Unless there are four children in every family where there are population is going backward both in numbers and quality. Nature without quantity to select from and a large number in which to mix her hereditary elements cannot possibly keep up the quality.

Needed: Better Matings and More Children.

Nature knows but one method of race improvement—better matings, with a fair average of children. This is the whole aim of eugenics. In the human family this average seems to be five or six. They talk of the "terrible strain of motherhood." Nonsense and wicked ignorance. What person lives longer than any other human creature? The men? No. They die three years before the women with their so-called "strain of motherhood." What woman preserves her beauty the longest? The childless woman? No. The mother of one? No. It is the mother of ten or twelve tugging at her apron strings? Again no. The woman who carries her health and beauty longest into old age is the average mother of five or six children. Mr. E. C. Snow proved this from an elaborate study of 35,000 women. The mother of five or six is what Huxley called "the darling of destiny." O yes, many people laugh at race suicide. But call to mind with Professor Ross: "The Roman world was feasting when it died." Babylon was where the native American is giving along her walls. Remember with the great historian Ferrero: "the downfall of every nation has been panoplied in splendor."

Real Americans Vanishing Species. "Rome lived as long as there were Romans." America will live as long as there are Americans. But Americans are a vanishing species. Meet six men on the streets of New York or Chicago. Only one has parents born in America! Five of them are true foreigners. In Cleveland and American parents. In Milwaukee it is one in seven. In Fall River it is one in nine!

The foreigner is having nearly all the children and lives on such a scale that the American refuses to place children in competition with them. They represent in the mass the worst of European stocks. No man knew them better than General Amasa Walker. "They are the beaten men of beaten races," he said. "They are the leavings of the ages." They are the men, says Professor Ross, who "stand behind at the close of the great ice age." The sickly sentiment of our social reformers to the contrary, the biologist knows, you cannot impose the ideals and aspirations of the classes upon these "uncultured and uncivilized masses." President Wilson is right in opposing the "literacy test." It is a biological farce. All we want is actual and potential manhood and womanhood. Charity spends millions on people who can read and write.

Biologist Sees Decay. Chicago alone is employing 2,600 paid social workers and spending $12,000,000 a year on her social and civic dependents. One-fourth of all the revenues of New York state is spent on her increasing horde of dependents. And the low foreigner is giving three members of his class where the native American is giving one! And the native American is giving his great hospitals and institutions for defectives cries, "Behold our progress! Behold our progress!" "Behold our decay!"

"The cry for more social workers," says Davenport, "and the call for more money for incapables is the first cry of alarm of the approaching end of nations. Rome was great," he says, "because of her great families. Rome fell solely because these families did not produce their kind, while their slaves and hirelings did!" And Rome became a nation of slaves and hirelings. Essentially that same process is now well on its way here in America. And unless that process can be stayed and reversed, Professor Ross closes a recent philippic to our country with the same warning that terrified Belshazzar: "We deserve the extinction that surely waits us."

Slow Coach. A gentleman was one day, in the old coaching times, traveling by a coach which moved at a very slow pace. "Pray," said he to the guard, "what is the name of this coach?" "The Regulator," was the reply. "And a very appropriate name, too," said the traveler, "for I see all the other coaches go by it."

ly one million patrons "make a beaten path" twice each season to see his exhibition, all of which simply proves that the public is today just as discriminating as it was in Emerson's day. This is demonstrated still more forcibly by the immense patronage accorded Mr. Howe's new program with its remarkable reproduction showing the construction of the Panama Canal. Ever since the United States bought the French rights for "a mere song," and to the tune of a $40,000,000 check (the largest single payment ever made the "Big Ditch" has been the mecca of photographers. A few secured more or less satisfactory results, but even they have freely admitted that the only films that are absolutely perfect photographically and which, at the same time, show adequately the real scope and magnitude of the gigantic task, are those which will be presented by Mr. Howe at the Myers Theater two nights and matinee on March 12 and 13. The public, too, as well as the keenest critics of film and of the press, universally recognize this reproduction as the only one that does justice to the stupendous undertaking. It depicts the stupendous struggle between man and natural forces in a manner that is incomparable. It portrays just how and why Americans succeeded in transforming a dream of centuries into a present-day reality, after a sister republic had sunk huge fortunes in the same venture and then had to abandon it in despair. How the herculean task was accomplished, what it required an expenditure of hundreds of millions, the mighty dredges incessantly digging deeper and deeper; the ingenious mechanical contrivances devised by our engineers to overcome nature's formidable barriers, perfect working organization—

CRYING WOLF.

For years it has been the policy of the republican politicians of the ultra type to stonewall any brand of opposition as "Stalwart." The name apparently covered a multitude of evils, particularly the proposed increases of taxes to exploit the Wisconsin Idea. The average voter has been taught to believe that the average "Stalwart" was a creature with a pair of horns, a long forked tail,
two cloven hoofs and other presteridges including the pitchfork, of his Saturnic Majesty. This picture has been driven home so forcibly by the La Follette republicans that even some of the younger generation who never saw the species believe it.
Even through clouded glasses it looks the same. Any conviction that is organized to oppose the high taxes must have been instigated by the "Stalwarts." It does not matter if progressives, bull moosers, if democrats, objected to the taxes, it was a Stalwart gathering. One of those internal assemblages of personages
with the tails and horns and tempting the innocent voter to aid them.
This is the way the Beloit Daily News has looked at the recent gathering of tax payers in Rock county
to organize to protect themselves.
This is the way they would have the state at large look at the question from their colored glass view. When eight hundred farmers, and businessmen, from all parts of the country met to discuss taxes. Listen to address, pass resolutions and adjourn with a firm resolution to protect themselves, they do not need any newspaper or political organ to tell them what they met for.

The Milwaukee Sentinel takes the Beloit News to task for its criticism of the convention under the caption
"The Old Scarecrow," as follows:
The shivering remnant of high tax organs are making a sorry and in-dignously futile effort to shoo off the farmers from those county meetings
of irate taxpayers.

The once serviceable old "stalwart" scarecrow is in commission
again, and some antiquarian editor with a bent for ancient history and marvelous megalomania is detecting a horrible "gleam of light" in the present
as a complete and satisfactory explanation of Mr. Taxpayer's expostulations against being taxed out of house and home.

That Rock county meeting is particularly a thorn in the flesh of our high taxer brethren, chiefly, we sur-pect, because, in point of personnel,
there was not enough "stalwartism"
in it to be detected by an X-ray reporter with a "half breed" assignment.

The Beloit News, however, with the aid of a strong imagination and a powerful high gear binocular of double extra magnifying power thinks it sees a whole raft of the first kind of "stalwarts" behind that meeting and hypnotically inspiring it with their own diabolical purposes. Here is their terrifying diagnosis:

The Janesville meeting was a stalwart gathering in the sense that it was organized by stalwarts for the benefit of stalwarts and to accomplish the purposes for which stalwarts have been working ever since the people of the state began showing themselves progressive ten or a dozen years ago. Then men back of the movement are stalwarts and there is no use of their attempting to deny it.

Considering that that Janesville meeting was in the main composed of several hundred good horse sense farmers who do not care to whoop in Jericho for all the "stalwart" and
"half breed" politicians in Wisconsin; and considering that the chairman of the meeting happened to be a democrat, the secretary a "progressive," the leading speaker a bull moose, etc., it strikes us that our Be-loft contemporary has an exaggerated notion of the organizing and inspiring powers of those same "stalwarts."

Ascribing to them all that power over all sorts of conditions of tax-paying citizens is, of course, highly complimentary to their numbers and influence, and we do not doubt that throughout the state they have accumulated considerable esteem of late owing to the vindication by many rude things they used to say of the character and tendency of Mr. LaFollette's personally conducted and Stephensohnally financed political adventure.

But this statewide insurgency against the system at Madison is a great deal broader and deeper than a mere "old stalwart" machination, neighbor. The old "stalwarts" being citizens and largely taxpayers, will no doubt help to push the good thing along—that is their duty and privilege. But the people will be served, and the tail is not going to wag the dog.

MOORE'S RESIGNATION.

There appears to be so much discussion as to the real reasons for the resignation of John Bassett
Moore as counsellor of the State Department that it is interesting to note that he has been forced to resign through friction with the state department of which he was an internal part. Of course as the world knows William Jennings Bryan is head of this department and that what he says goes, chautauqua lectures or not, so it is interesting to note that a correspondent who knows Washington writes:

"He Moore, was ignored on all questions of the administration's policy. He was said not to have been in accord with the policy regarding Mexico. In a disorganized and demoralized department all the routine work was forced on his shoulders because inexperienced men brought in by Secretary Bryan were unable to perform it. Mr. Moore was doing herculean service under most unfavorable circumstances while Mr.
Bryan was on the chautauqua circuit."

The Evening Wisconsin adds:
"If President Wilson had made Mr.
Moore instead of Mr. Bryan secretary of state, he might have been obliged to meet political machinations which he has avoided, but the country's foreign relations would have been in a better position than they are now."

The fight for the nomination for commissioner at the primaries on March 24th promises to be most spirited. There are enough in the field to divide the vote and the two who will have the most ballots cast in their favor will be candidates at the April election.

That ground hog's six weeks are up. Now for spring-like weather. If the old adage is any good we may expect warm days shortly.

Wilson's plan to recognize England and the foreign nations in the canal toll question has raised a storm of protest throughout the country.
Perhaps the president is strong enough to force his ideas through congress and it will be interesting to note the results. If he fails his power is broken and Underwood and Clark can gain control. If he wins, he will be the big man yet.

Governor McGovern says that the opposition to the high taxes all emanates from undesirable who oppose state laws or are affected by them. There you have your classification gentlemen who attended the Rock county gathering two weeks ago. You are undesirable.

Washington must take some official action on the invasion of Mexican oil by the Texans but what to do is hard to determine. Meanwhile Secretary Bryan is delivering chautauqua lectures.

It looks as though the state of Texas had forgotten that it had joined the federation of states and still thought it was the Lone Star republic of the forties.

Three million dollars a year to run the state university and then the tax payers wonder where their money goes.

On the Spur of the Moment

Her
Ah, how I loved her graceful lines,
She was a beauty that I vow
How, for her poor old heart
pines,
My song of grief you must allow.
How oft I've communed with her
I love her with a passion mad.
In my spare hours I would not stir
Away from her I had it said
She had me lashed tight to the mast,
I'll tell you that is true, by heck;
The trouble was she was too fast,
And now she is a total wreck.
How I yearn for the days gone by,
The passing years cannot atone,
I can't forget, although I try,
That motor boat I used to own.

The Vacuum Cleaner.
The vacuum cleaner is one of the greatest inventions of this or any other age and it has been put to a variety of uses. The housewife very often uses it to extract bums and small change from her husband's trousers' pockets after he has gone to bed. It can be used successfully in picking up the crumbs from the table between the courses of a fashionable dinner.

A farmer by the name of Alonzo Pack has found a new use for the vacuum cleaner and this is the way
he describes it:
"I send plucked chickens to market
every once in awhile and have always had to pluck them myself,
slowly and laboriously. Yesterday
I got a vacuum cleaner and held the killed chicken beneath it. Forthwith every chicken was swiftly deplucked
of its feathers, which were blown off into a bag. Next week I'm going to pick some geese the same way."

JANESVILLE CAPTURE BELOIT TOURNAMENT

HIGH SCHOOL'S GREAT BASKETBALL SQUAD TRIM BELOIT IN FINAL TILT, 21 TO 18.

VICTORY AT APPLETON

Is Next In Line.—Team Are Recipients of Magnificent Trophy Cup As First Place Prize.

At Rest. Funeral services were held Saturday night at the Beloit College gymnasium for Beloit high school's hopes of the championship of Southern Wisconsin, these hopes being tenderly laid to rest by the Janesville high school team after a season's attack of rivalry. The ritual services were conducted by Referee Phil Gray and the five stalwart members of the championship team served as pallbearers. Interment was immediately after the game, six hundred friends of Beloit rosters seeing their fond hopes forever into oblivion. The deceased was nursed along since last fall but was unable to survive the vital operation. Among the offerings was a large and beautiful horseshoe, which enabled the deceased to stay the final passing until the last few moments of the ordeal.

Fighting for forty minutes with all the energy left in them, the Janesville high school basketball team won the second consecutive championship of the Beloit College tournament Saturday night, by landing their old foes, the Beloit quintet, a drubbing, the final count being 21 to 18. The conflict was witnessed by a crowd that filled the entire gymnasium, an estimate bringing the total up to nearly two thousand. Janesville was represented by fully three hundred fans, who painted Beloit red with enthusiasm after the game was over. It was a heart-breaking defeat for Beloit, who expected to win with ease. Leslie Stewart, left guard for the champions, is given much of the credit which brought on the victory. With but three minutes to play in the last half, Stewart rushed up the door like a flash and in rapid succession caged two of the cleanest goals from a direct away. The crowd went wild with enthusiasm when these shots were counted. That made the score twenty-one to seventeen in Janesville's favor. Shortly after Phillips for Beloit scored the last goal of the battle. Time was soon called, with the Bower City quintet in the lead, and the championship safely tucked away. Stewart was a big star in the tourney. The contest was not good basketball, too close guarding being the cause for the many fouls which were called. A total of seventeen fouls were called during the game, ten of them on Connell, Connell, who has learned the science of basketball, and he made a very awkward appearance on the floor, which looked out of place compared with the champions' good work. Blanchard was the best man Beloit had. He played clean and failed to issue a foul.

Dalton made the statement following the conflict, if we had been in the same condition as we were against Waukesha Friday night, we could easily have doubled the score on Beloit. As a matter of fact, Capt. Hemming could hardly stand up. Stickney was forced to take the floor as a rest, in place a few minutes in the middle of the first half. Atwood was forced to take Connell's tripping and slugging, which was done underhanded all the time, the official calling four fouls in the entire forty minutes of play while at least a dozen could have been chalked up against him. Stewart showed the result of having played in three games since Friday noon. His extra effort in the last three minutes was all that saved Janesville. Dalton was evidently all tired out, but played the game of his life, and is easily the best all-around man in that tournament. He lacked his eye for the basket against Beloit, but was aggressive and played a big part in the victory.

To pick an all-tournament team, by any critic, would be an injustice to every player in the tourney. It is a fact that after playing four games in two days by perhaps five or six of the entire outlay of teams in the meet, that a team resulting in fairness to all quintets would be an utter impossibility.

Capt. Hemming was outplayed by Ross Saturday night because he was in no condition to play basketball, while Ross was fresh. At that, Hemming scored twice, the same number that Ross acquired. Hemming shot five free throws out of ten attempts, and he outplayed McIntosh in a very light degree by scoring an even four with the Edgerton center in the afternoon game. He also outplayed the Waukesha center who in turn outplayed the Plattville man. Ross, the Beloit center, played even with the Plattville man, and then outplayed Hemming at night. As the result, Hemming has the shade.

Beloit game. He bids fair to gain success at the state meet, if the team is entered. Stickney, who was shifted to forward in the Waukesha game and who remained playing mate to Atwood throughout the remainder of the meet, was the biggest sensation in the tournament. Everybody was watching Stickney, and he has a reputation in Beloit as being one of the fastest forwards who ever participated in a tourney at the Smith gym. He slowed up in the Beloit game because he was minus vitality.

Barnes and Badger entered the Stoughton game on Friday and put up a scrappy game. Both men are the makings of corners and may prove a big asset yet this season in helping the veterans to round out a state title five.

Details of Play. It was two minutes before either side scored. Phillips then started the work by counting from the middle of the floor. Beloit were wild. They scored soon after, this time Ross being the hero. Dame held twice and Hemming quickly counted two free throws. Atwood then fooled Connell and slipped in a side shot, which tied the score. Phillips scored a free throw on a foul by Stickney, which ended Beloit's scoring for the half. Hemming broke into the line and now by counting a free throw which tied the score again, but he was not satisfied, so a close range goal by Atwood soon after ended the half with Janesville leading 5 to 2. Janesville rosters used the gym between halves by forming a snake dance.

In the second half Connell was called three times for fouling. Phillips started to score again. He shot as from past the middle of the floor. Stickney counted a goal, followed by Hemming's second basket. Phillips and Ross each counted from long ranges. Connell stood in the middle of the floor and dropped the ball. Stickney put Janesville on a par by tying the score with a pretty goal from a short distance. Dame scored and Beloit led. Two free throws by Hemming tied the score again. There were three minutes to play. Stewart proved the hero, and dropped in his Phillips goal back with Beloit's only close shot of the game. Janesville played defensive for the last two minutes and won out. Final score, Janesville 21, Beloit 18.

The lineup and scores follows: Janesville—Atwood, 1; Stickney, 1; Capt. Hemming, 2; Stewart, 1; Dalton, 2; Ross, 1; Dame, 1; Connell, 1; Blanchard, 1; D. R. Connell, 1; Baskets—Phillips 4, Hemming 2, Ross 2, Stickney 2, Stewart 2, Atwood, 1, Connell, Dalton.

There's going to be a new scheme of things in Cincinnati this summer. Whereas previously the manager there had been a rather voiceless little person who scarcely had an opinion of his own, this season while Charley Herzog's there, Mr. Herzog will run the things. Charley has come right out and made the announcement and has assured his players that they can depend upon it. His word in things baseball around the Red hangout will be final and Charley explained to his men that he wanted that thoroughly understood. When Herzog went to Cincinnati he was all too well aware of the fate that had met his predecessors. Officials, from the president of the club down to the ticket seller, insisted on running the club. A board of directors also had nothing of this sort. If Charley manages to negotiate such a maneuver with neatness and dispatch he will have the praise of all fandom. More power, Charley.

An interesting feature of Connie Mack's bunch of world beaters is the fact that with scarcely an exception almost every man on it is "misfit." There is hardly a player on the team that at some time or other didn't

COMISKEY RETURNS TO CHICAGO TODAY

Owner of Chicago American League Team Arrives from New York After World Tour.

Chicago, March 9.—Chas. A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago American league baseball club, White Sox players who made the trip around the world and nearly 100 Chicagoans who went to New York to welcome home the tourists arrived here early today from New York on a special train.

After a banquet to be given in their honor tonight the players will join their teammates at Paso Robles, Calif., the Sox training quarters.

MAY HAVE SPECIAL TO BELOIT MATCHES

Fistic Artists, Who Scrapped Before Local Club, Billed at Beloit.

Beloit promoters of the Fine City Athletic club, are making plans to schedule a special car from Janesville on the evening of the eleventh for the boxing bouts which will be held at the Wilson opera house. It is expected that a number of fans from this city will attend the exhibition as five matches are offered and the main bout promises to be a first class battle.

Walter Bauman, the Milwaukee Athlete, is billed to battle Mike Graham of Chicago, for a ten round go, in the main card. Bauman appeared in the Janesville ring against Willie Schaffer of Chicago, who at present is on the training staff of Willie Richie champion lightweight, and the local followers know his ability with the gloves. Graham, it is claimed, outpointed Schaffer in a recent match bout and the performers at the Beloit bout should be evenly matched.

In the semi-windup, Anton the Great, of Milwaukee, will travel against Jules Hackman, the iron-jawed plow wielder from Burlington for eight rounds. Corbett will battle Young Sharkey at Janesville. Corbett is a great favorite with the Beloit fans and Williams will give him as good a fight as did Shady here. Bobby Ward, the Beloit bear of Milwaukee, in a six round duel. As a certain raiser, De Forest, an Italian policeman of Beloit, will start his way in the fight game against Mathewson of Plymouth. This match will be for four rounds.

NEW BOWLING TOURNEY WILL START THURSDAY AT MILLER'S ALLEYS

On Thursday night of this week the first ball will be rolled in the semi-city bowling tournament at the Miller's alleys for prizes similar to those of the tourney recently completed. By Wednesday night, the entry cards close, about twenty-seven teams in the two men team events is expected, and over thirty will enter in the singles.

On Saturday, in the Billiard tournament at Miller's, Quinn lost to William and Hines further clinched his grip on first honors, trimming Clithero in a savvy manner. Tomorrow night the rival team of the Parker Pen will again go to the mat for their their weekly conflict.

There's going to be a new scheme of things in Cincinnati this summer. Whereas previously the manager there had been a rather voiceless little person who scarcely had an opinion of his own, this season while Charley Herzog's there, Mr. Herzog will run the things. Charley has come right out and made the announcement and has assured his players that they can depend upon it. His word in things baseball around the Red hangout will be final and Charley explained to his men that he wanted that thoroughly understood. When Herzog went to Cincinnati he was all too well aware of the fate that had met his predecessors. Officials, from the president of the club down to the ticket seller, insisted on running the club. A board of directors also had nothing of this sort. If Charley manages to negotiate such a maneuver with neatness and dispatch he will have the praise of all fandom. More power, Charley.

An interesting feature of Connie Mack's bunch of world beaters is the fact that with scarcely an exception almost every man on it is "misfit." There is hardly a player on the team that at some time or other didn't play at another position. Several of the most brilliant stars of the combination started in the game at some position other than the one in which they are now starring. And perhaps it's Connie Mack's ability to see the real worth in a player that has built up his wonderful team. If a man didn't paint the town in one department of the game, Connie, feeling sure that there was baseball in the player, would try him out somewhere else. When Eddie Collins was in Columbus he thought he was a wizard at short and he went to the Athletics to play that position. It didn't take Connie Mack so very long to see that Eddie was wasting his time around short and Cornelius shifted him to second, where we have all watched him shine since. At the time Collins was sent to second, Danny Murphy was covering that base in neat shape, but Connie, after thinking the thing over, put Murphy in the outfield. Of course he was roasted for this at the time, but since it has been seen what a wise move it was. When Rube Oldring first joined the Athletics he was booked as a shortstop. Mack soon saw, however, that the Rube was too fast on his feet for an infielder and after a successful try at third, Oldring went to the outfield. "Stuffy" McNis was another shortstop when he joined the Athletics. The infield at that time was too strong for him to get a look-in. Connie noticed, though, that whenever "Stuffy" got a chance at the bat he slammed the ball viciously and Connie longed to get him in the regular line-up. And as Harry Davis was beginning to slow up at that time McNis was tried out at first and has starred there since.

BUOB'S BOCK BEER

A Little Story About How Bock Beer Derives Its Name.

Bock Beer derives its name from Eimbock Beer, from Eimbock (now Einbock) Germany, formerly noted for its fine beers. The present custom of serving Bock Beer, popularly associated with the goat (German Bock) at the opening of the spring season, comes from the time when, owing to the lack of proper refrigeration, brewing was not carried on during the hot weather. The new beer which was first served about Easter time, had aged in the cellars from early fall, and was naturally stronger, and was brewed richer and fuller of flavor, as a gift or hansom from the brewer to his customers.

CALIFORNIA IS HARD HIT BY LEGISLATION PASSED BY CONGRESS

Democratic Tariff and Railroad Suits Works Hardships on State Industries in West.
By Winfield Jones.

Washington, D. C., March 7.—Democratic members of congress from California are much disturbed at the apparent hostile attitude of the Wilson administration toward that state. Scarcely a week passes that some move is not made, or legislation proposed, detrimental to California's interests.

The tariff bill was admittedly unfair to California, injuring industries that the people of that state had labored years to establish. Foreign importers of products in competition with California apparently have the sympathy of the ways and means committee. It is not surprising that the New York lemon importers held a banquet in that city in honor of the chairman of the democratic ways and means committee and the chairman of the national democratic congressional committee to celebrate the removal of practically all the duty on lemons.

Congressman Joseph R. Knowland of Alameda has compiled figures from official sources showing that the effect of this democratic tariff tinkering is beginning to be felt throughout California. During the months of October, November and December, 1913, the first three months under the operation of the law, lemons were imported to the value of $502,666 as against $270,107 for the corresponding period in 1912. This is an increase of 234 per cent. This will not be pleasant news to the lemon growers of Southern California. In other words, the money is being taken from the pockets of California lemon growers and handed to the foreign importers and the Italian producers.

Raisin growers of California will be interested to learn that there has been over 58 per cent increase in the importations of raisins. The increase in unshelled almonds has been large and importations for the three months valued at $501,393 as against $157,077 for the corresponding three months in 1912, an increase of 219 per cent.

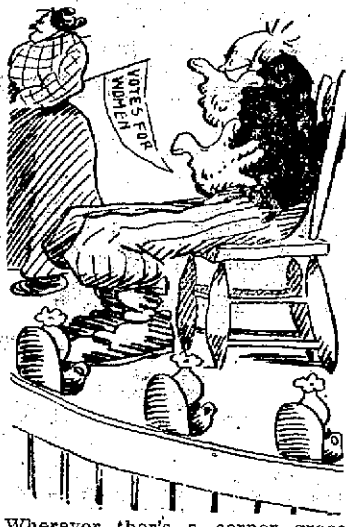

Those interested in the poultry industry in California are being disturbed when government records show that the importation of eggs for December, 1913, was 1,514,236 dozens as contrasted with 122,293 dozens for the month of December, 1912, an increase of 1,238 per cent. Estimating poultry raisers are up in arms over the importation of Chinese eggs under the new tariff, and an attempt was made to have the department of agriculture declare them unfit for food. The department took up the matter and instead of relieving the situation gave the Chinese eggs a clean bill of health which assisted in advertising the Oriental product. Many sugar beet factories are closed and it is feared others may be forced to do so later.

Another serious blow to California has been the attitude of the administration in bringing suit for the unloading of the Southern Central Pacific Railroads. The California railroad commission and practically every commercial body in that state, and newspapers irrespective of party, have protested vigorously against the action of the attorney general. A committee of representative Californians came to Washington to make a personal appeal. The attorney general's answer to their plea was to bring suit the day of their visit. It is generally recognized that should the suit of the attorney general be successful a great injury will be done California. The contention of those familiar with railroad conditions in California is that the joint lines of the Central and Southern Pacific railroads can be more conveniently and economically managed as one local system than by the substitution of two incomplete local systems and two agencies to perform the service now being carried on by one complete system in charge of one agency. This was the attitude of the state railroad commission.

Then came the democratic caucus action against suffrage and the attempt of the president to sidestep the issue by declaring that he could not assist the cause of equal rights for women because the democratic platform did not mention that subject. As a final blow to California the repeal of important sections of the Panama canal act are being urged to meet the objections of Great Britain.

An election was recently held in the second congressional district of Iowa to fill a vacancy. The district is democratic and a democrat was elected. Chief interest, however, centered in the relative showing of the republican and progressive parties. An analysis of the returns demonstrate that in Iowa, as well as all other states progressives are returning to the republican fold. Roosevelt's vote in this district in 1912 was 13,602. The progressive candidate vote in the recent election was 8,872, a progressive loss of 4,730. The Taft vote in 1912 was 8,263 while the republican candidate for congress in the recent election polled 10,435 votes, a republican gain of 2,172.

True Love.
Love is the purification of the heart from itself; it strengthens and ennobles the character, gives a higher motive and a nobler aim to every action of life, and makes both man and woman strong, noble, and courageous; and the power to love truly and devotedly is the noblest gift with which a human being can be endowed; but it is a sacred fire that must not be burnt to idols.

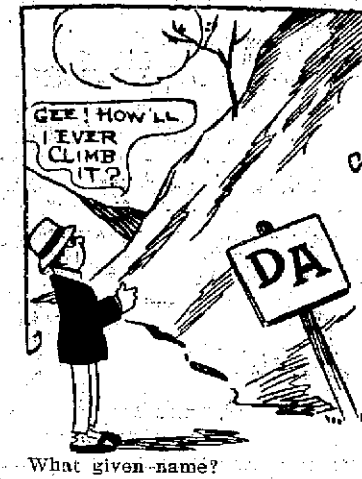

We Are a Nation of Frog-Eaters.
Frogs' legs, at which people turned up their noses in disgust only a few years ago, have now become so popular an article of diet that no fewer than 6,000,000 frogs a year are killed in Minnesota alone to supply the demand. The northwestern frogs are the most delicate, but the biggest are the southern bullfrogs. The latter are not so sweet or tender as the former.

Marble Mountains.
Mountains of pure marble have been discovered in German South Africa, the like of which are unknown in the world.

Accepts the Rebuke.
A resident of an English city has made himself a marked man by insisting on saying "nought" instead of "O" when he calls a telephone number having ciphers in it. The telephone operator usually corrects him when he says "three double nought" by saying "Three double O." The other night he called up central and said, "Hello," and the girl replied: "Hell-naught." He accepted meekly the "quiet rebuke."—Springfield Republican.

What We Are Made Of.
The average man contains the ingredients to make fat for seven bars of soap, iron for a medium-sized nail, sugar to fill a small bowl, salt to fill a shaker, lime to whitewash a chicken coop, phosphorus to make 2,200 match tips, magnesium for a dose of magnesia, sodium to neutralize a pint and a half of water, potassium to explode a toy cannon, sulphur to rid a dog of fleas and albuminoids to make a case of eggs.—American Wine Press.

BADGER ALUMNI MAGAZINE EDITOR TAKES POSITION WITH PEACE SOCIETY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Mar. 8.—Louis F. Lochner, for five years editor of the Wisconsin Alumni Magazine and since 1912 general secretary of the Alumni Association of the University of Wisconsin, has accepted the position of director of the Central West department of the American Peace Society and secretary of the Chicago Peace Society. He will begin May 1. His successor will be chosen by the alumni executive committee in the near future, though Mr. Lochner will probably continue to edit the Alumni magazine until the close of the present college year.
Mr. Lochner has been identified with the cause of peace since 1909. For nine years, also, he has been active in the international student movement, serving continuously as secretary of the Wisconsin International club, first president of the Association of Cosmopolitan clubs, editor of the Cosmopolitan Student, and secretary of the International Federation of Students, which now has branches in almost all civilized countries.

A CHILD'S LAXATIVE IS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

They love to take it and it doesn't harm the tender little stomach, liver and bowels.

If your little one's tongue is coated, it is a sure sign the stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When your child is cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again. Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit Laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits so like it. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

When you buy roofing—whether shingles or rolls—for any building of any type—remember this: Any test for toughness, pliability, tensile strength—is a false test. Roofs do not wear out—they dry out. We use no coal tar in this roofing—because coal tar is of gaseous origin and naturally returns to gas, thus drying out too quickly. Our properly blended asphalt is the result of a quarter century's experience and tests. They are not of gaseous origin and dry out very slowly. LIVES MUST REFLECT TEACHINGS OF BIBLE

REV. GEORGE PARISOE GIVES SERMON ON CHRISTIAN SERVICE AND DUTY.

HURTS OUR SALVATION

The Very Scars of Christ's Body Were for Our Iniquity—World a Place for Service.

"A man may wear the very garments of Christ, walk in his very footsteps, yes, and have His prayer on his lips, and yet not be a Christian," was the gist of the sermon last night by the Rev. George Parisoe, in the first of the personal talks on Christian service. "Our lives must be reflective of His and we must not pay our debt to the world with our ears, heart, feet or hands, but with our very lives," declared the pastor.

Taking as his text the 53rd chapter, 3rd verse of Isaiah, "He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief; he was despised and he was despised of men," Rev. Parisoe delivered a lesson that carried a burden of thought appealing to all of his hearers because of the ungarishness of the truth he presented. His sermon in part was as follows:

"In the history of Christ, we find that He came unto His own with the great lesson to save humanity, the men, women and children against Him. Parties that were rent with difference united to discredit His teachings and mission on earth. In every age conceivable they set stumbling blocks in the way of His progress. The extreme by His success, the mighty Roman Pilate denounced him in public and cried 'Crucify Him,' degrading the life of the most noble character in the world's history.

"The reason for this rejection, their hiding their face from Him, was unbelief. Christ, a son of an unnoticed virgin and his parents not generally known as descendants of David, came unto them as a poor man without even a home and His only attendants were only a few lowly fishermen. His early life was obscure and was an itinerant preacher, without ecclesiastical authority. The truth is, they were disappointed and ashamed of Christ. Instead of a mighty God coming from the heavens with pomp and known, the Master was verily their inferior, because of His humble rank and lowly surroundings. Despite what history teaches of Christ and his poverty, is there not wisdom and grace strength in His ability to move men by His love and His very comeliness was the greatest truth of his victory. Jesus did not one ill and the Jews must have known of His noble birth, the fact that He had not even a roof over His head led them to reject him and then despise Him. We can understand their hate for He taught a contrary religion, but why did they despise Him and look down on him with this scornful regard? The Jews with this scornful regard of the greatest misdeed and high crime of the age.

Turning to a modern version of the text Rev. Parisoe continued: "Among men today it is thought to be a Christian is unpopular. Men's ideas are governed by friends' opinions. This truth cannot help but lower the standard of morality. The average man sometimes is ashamed to acknowledge that he is a Christian and a true believer of Christ. I say why shouldn't we acknowledge Him. His teachings are practical and there is honor in carrying them out. Show me a community where the Bible is taught and I will show you a change in color and ambitions for the better. We commit ourselves to an attorney when we are in legal difficulties and to a physician when we are sick and we should commit ourselves to the chief advocate of our souls who stands before the supreme justice bars of Almighty God and speak with Him with our heart and soul.

"To do an ungrateful deed or to sin is to reject Him as did the Jews, for the very wounds that He received for our iniquities and the scars on His body were for our salvation. With His stripes we are healed, and the man of today is bound to know that his redemption is by those very scars, and yet they often reject Him. He does not mean going to church, giving the pastor a listless attention, but a deep reflection of your very life is what counts. We despise Christ who we neglect to look out on the world and see the greater part, and lend our lives to them. We despise Christ, in every sense of the word, when we look upon the world as a place of pleasure and rest. We hate Him when we let ourselves think that His death on the cross was the only salvation necessary for us. That is the work of Christ and our duty lies in working for him. The world is a place for service. We cannot drift down the tide of human events and be a Christian. The world is to be saved, and you with the power of God are to do it. We cannot turn the world into a tragedy, but a world of pleasure. Duty demands our lives and the fact that body of Christ was marred to save us, should give His strength to do our work.

"Christ gave His life, what will you give? Some of your spare time, a little money, a slovenly attempt or a concentrated effort to be a real Christian, for a real Christian does things right. I say that often the very children of the streets are better Christians than those who grace pews in a church, for you will find that the law of the gang is to 'play fair,' the first principle of truth. The trend of modern society is to exclude persons from their 'select circle.' That is rejecting, yes, hating Christ. His deeds demand, not our souls, hearts, hands, or money, but our very lives and our faults that often appear innocent on the surface, are proof that we have rejected Him. Let us not despise or hate Him, but follow our duty."

No disagreeable odor or taste that scientists find in beer in light bottles.

"It is interesting to note the observation that beer in colorless bottles exposed to diffused light will undergo a change, precipitating a heavy sediment and taking on a disagreeable odor and taste."

MISS ANNA KOPLIN WEDS JAY FULLER

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Center, March 9.—On March 5th, at 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kopplin in the Town of Plymouth occurred the marriage of their second eldest daughter, Miss Anna to Jay C. Fuller, son of Mr. Center. In the presence of about one hundred invited relatives and friends the bridal party entered the ceremony which was appropriately decorated for the occasion to the strains of music of the violin and harp, where the Rev. F. W. of Hanover spoke the impressive words which united them for life. They were attended by Otto and Miss Edith Kopplin, brother and sister of the bride, and Shaw of Beloit cousins of the groom. The bride was tastefully gowned in pale blue messaline and wore a bridal veil and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Edith was dressed in white, an embroidery dress and Miss Shaw wore a canary yellow chiffon. They carried white bouquets. After the usual hearty congratulations, they were seated at tables where a bounteous wedding supper was served by six young ladies, friends of the bride. They received many beautiful and useful presents. The local high school and second teams and the girls' team went to Monticello Friday for basketball games with the teams at that place. The local girls' team and both boys' teams were victorious.

BRONCHITIS CONQUERED

At this season of year with such sudden changes, it is so easy to take cold, and almost before one is aware there is inflammation in the bronchial tubes—a hard cough and unless checked in time chronic pulmonary troubles may result.

Townsend Young of Royersford, Pa., says: "A severe bronchial trouble contracted caused me much difficulty about breathing. My chest felt clogged up and there was considerable soreness. I tried different remedies without help, but I am glad to say that Vinol cured my bronchial trouble which had lasted for three months. My breathing is all right and the soreness entirely gone from my chest."

Throw Away Your Eye-Glasses!

A Free Prescription

You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye-strain or other eye-weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing, say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to spare the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Opton. Fill a two ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one Opton tablet and allow to dissolve. With this liquid, bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time. Advertisement.

The Hollow of Her Hand

"Perhaps not, but it is fair to her, and that is why I must remain silent."

"Before God, I shall know the truth—from her, if not from you—and—"

"If you love her, if you will be kind to her, you will let her go her way in peace."

He was struck by the somewhat sinister earnestness of her words.

"Tell me where I may find her," he said, setting his jaw.

"It will not be difficult for you to find her," she said, frowning, "if you insist on pursuing her."

"You drive her away from your house, Sara Wrاندall, and yet you expect me to believe that your motives are friendly. Why should I accept your word?"

"I did not drive her away, nor did I ask her to stay."

"He stood hard at her."

"Good Lord, what is the meaning of all this?" he cried in perplexity.

"What am I to understand?"

"The car had come to a stop under the porte cochère. She laid her hand on his arm."

"If you will come in with me, Brandon, I will try to make things clear to you."

He left in half an hour, walking rapidly down the drive, his coat buttoned closely, although the morning was hot and breathless. He held in his hand a small scrap of paper on which was written: "If I loved you less, I would come to you now and live with you. If you love me, Brandon, you will let me go my way. It is the only course. Sara is my friend, and she is yours. Be guided by her, and believe in my love for you. Hetty."

And now, as things go in fairy stories, we should prepare ourselves to see Hetty pass through a season of drudgery and hardship, with the ultimate quintessence of joy as the reward for her trials and tribulations. Happily, this is not a fairy tale. There are some things more fantastic than fairy tales, if they are not spoiled in the telling. Hetty did not go forth to encounter drudgery, disdain and obloquy. By no manner of means! She went with a well-filled purse, a definite purpose ahead and a determined factor behind.

In a manner befitting her station as the intimate friend of Mrs. Challis Wrاندall, as the cousin of the Murgatroyds, as the daughter of Colonel Castleton of the Indian corps, as a person supposed to be possessed of independent means, withal, she went, with none to question, none to cavil.

Sara had insisted on this, as much for her own sake as for Hetty's; she argued, and she had prevailed in the end. What would the world think, what would their acquaintances think, and above all what would the high and mighty Wrاندalls think if she went with meek and lowly mien?

Why should they make it possible for anyone to look askance?

And so it was that she departed in state, with a dozen trunks and boxes; an obsequiously attended seat in the parlor car was hers; a telegram in her bag assured her that rooms were being reserved for herself and maid at the Ritz-Carlton; alongside it reposed a letter to Mr. Carroll, instructing him to provide her with sufficient funds to carry out the plan agreed upon; and in the seat behind sat the lady's maid who had served her for a twelvemonth and more.

The timely demise of the venerable Lord Murgatroyd afforded the most natural excuse for her trip to England. The old nobleman gave up the ghost, allowing for difference in time, at the very moment when Mrs. Redmond Wrاندall was undoing a certain package from London, which turned out to be a complete history of what his forbears had done in the way of propagation since the fourteenth century.

Hetty did not find it easy to accommodate her pride to the plan which was to give her a fresh and rather imposing start in the world. She was to have a full year in which to determine whether she should accept toil and poverty as her lot, or emulate the symbolic example of Dicky, the canary bird. At the end of the year, unless she did as Dicky had done, her source of supplies would be automatically cut off and she would be entirely dependent upon her own wits and resources. In the interim she was a probationary person of leisure. It had required hours of persuasion on the part of Sara Wrاندall to bring her into line with these arrangements.

"But I am able and willing to work for my living," had been Hetty's stubborn retort to all the arguments brought to bear upon her.

"Then let me put it in another light. It is vital to me, of course, that you should keep up the show of affluence for a while at least. I think I have made that clear to you. But here is another side to the matter; the question of recompense."

"Recompense?" cried Hetty sharply.

"Without your knowing it, I have virtually held you a prisoner all these months, condemned in my own judgment if not in the sight of the law. I have taken the law unto myself. You were not convicted of murder in this unitarian court of mine, but of another sin. For fifteen months you have been living under the shadow of a crime you did not commit. I was reserving complete punishment for you in the shape of an ignoble marriage, which was to have served two bitter ends. Well, I had the truth from you. I believe you to be absolutely innocent of the charge—I held over you, for which I condemned you without a hearing. Then, why should I not employ my own means of making restitution?"

"You have condescended to believe in me. That is all I ask."

"True, that is all you ask. But is it altogether the fair way out of it? To illustrate: our criminal laws are less kind to the innocent than to the guilty. Our law courts find a man guilty and he is sent to prison. Later on, he is found to be innocent—absolutely innocent. What does the state do in the premises? It issues a formal pardon—a mockery, pure and simple, and the man is set free. It all comes to a curt, belated apology for an error on the part of justice. No substantial recompense is offered. He is merely pardoned for something he didn't do. The state, which has wronged him, condescends to pardon him! Think of it! It is the same as if a man knocked another down and then said, before he removed his foot from the victim's neck: 'I pardon you freely.' My father was opposed to the system we have—that all countries have—of pardoning men who have been unjustly condemned. The innocent victim is pardoned in the same manner as the guilty one who comes in for clemency. I accept my father's contention that an innocent man should not be ashamed and humiliated by a pardon. The court which tried him should reopen the case and honorably acquit him of the crime. Then the state should pay to this innocent man, dollar for dollar, all that he might have earned during his term of imprisonment, with an additional amount for the suffering he has endured. Not long ago in an adjoining state a man, who had served seventeen years of a life sentence for murder, was found to be wholly innocent. What happened? A pardon was handed to him and he walked out of prison, broken in spirit, health and purse. His small fortune had been wiped out in the futile effort to prove his innocence. He gave up seventeen years of his life and then was pardoned for the sacrifice. He should have been paid for every day spent in prison. That was the very least they could have done."

"I see now what you mean," mused Hetty. "I have never thought of it in that way before."

"Well, it comes to this in our case, Hetty: I have tried you all over again in my own little court and I have acquitted you of the charge I had against you. I do not offer you a silly pardon. You must allow me to have my way in this matter, to choose my own means of compensating you for—"

"You saved my life," protested Hetty, shaking her head obstinately.

"My dear, I appreciate the fact that you are English," said Sara, with a weary smile, "but won't you please see the point?"

Then Hetty smiled too, and the way was easier after that for Sara. She gained her quixotic point, and Hetty went away from Southlook feeling that no woman in all the world was so bewildering as Sara Wrاندall.

When she sailed for England, two days later, the newspaper announced that the beautiful and attractive Miss Castleton was returning to her native land on account of the death of Lord Murgatroyd, and would spend the year on the continent, where probably she would be joined later on by Mrs. Wrاندall, whose period of mourning and distress had been softened by the constant and loyal friendship of "this exquisite Englishwoman."

Four hundred miles out at sea she was overtaken by wireless messages from three persons.

Brandon Booth's message said: "I am sailing tomorrow on a faster ship than yours. You will find me waiting for you on the landing stage." Her heart gave a leap to dizzy heights, and, try as she would, she could not crush it back to the depths in which it had dwelt for days.

The second bit of pale green paper contained a cry from a most unexpected source: "Cable your London address. S. refuses to give it to me. I think I understand the situation. We want to make amends for what you have had to put up with during the year. She has shown her true nature at last." It was signed "Leslie."

From Sara came these cryptic words: "For each year of famine there will come seven years of plenty."

All the way across the Atlantic she lived in a state of subdued excitement. Conflicting emotions absorbed her waking hours but her dreams were all of one complexion: rosy and warm and full of a joyousness that distressed her vastly when she recalled them to mind in the early morning hours. During the day she intermittently hoped and feared that he would be on the landing stage. In any event, she was bound to find unhappiness. If he were there her joy would be short-lived and blighting; if he were not there, her disappointment would be equally hard to bear.

He was there. She saw him from the deck of the tender as they edged up to the landing. His tall figure loomed in the front rank against the rail that held back the crowd; his sun-bronzed face wore a look of eager expectancy; from her obscured position in the shadow of the deck building, purposely chosen for reasons only too obvious, she could even detect the alert, swift-moving scrutiny that he fastened upon the crowd.

"Black Lightning."

In photographs of lightning, streaks of "black lightning" are often seen branching out from the main white flash, and people have long wondered what these were. It is now found, says the Scientific American, that they are due to the over-exposure of the photographic plate and the "reversal" of the negative into a positive.

and when he had eaten his way through several sandwiches to a

Later on, he stood looking down into her serious blue eyes; her hands were lying limp in his. His own eyes were dark with earnestness, with the restraint that had fastened itself upon him. Behind her stood the respectful but immeasurably awed maid, who could not, for the life of her, understand how a man could be on both sides of the Atlantic at one and the same time.

"Thank the Lord, Hetty, say I, for the five-day boats," he was saying.

"You should not have come, Brandon," she cried softly, and the look of misery in her eyes was tinged with a glow she could not suppress. "It only makes everything harder for me. I— Oh, I wish you had not come!"

"But isn't it wonderful?" he cried, "that I should be here and waiting for you! It is almost inconceivable. And you were in the act of running away from me, too. Oh, I have that much of the tale from Sara, so don't look so hurt about it."

"I am so sorry you came," she repeated, her lip trembling.

Noting her emotion, he gave her hands a fierce, encouraging pressure and immediately released them.

"Come," he said gently, "I have booked for London. Everything is arranged. I shall see to your luggage. Let me put you in the carriage first."

As she sat in the railway carriage, waiting for him to return, she tried in a hundred ways to devise a means of escape, and yet she had never loved him so much as now. Her heart was sore, her desolation never so complete as now.

He came back at last and took his seat beside her in the compartment, fanning himself with his hat. The maid very discreetly stared out of the window at the hurrying throng of travelers on the platform.

"How I love you, Hetty—how I adore you!" Booth whispered passionately.

"Oh, Brandon!"

"And I don't mean to give you up," he added, his lean jaw setting hard.

"You must—oh, you must," she cried miserably. "I mean it, Brandon—"

"What are your plans?" asked he.

"Please don't ask me," she pleaded. "You must give it up, Brandon. Let me go my own way."

"Not until I have the whole story from you. You see, I am not easily thwarted, once I set my heart on a thing. I gathered this much from Sara: the object is not insurmountable."

"She—said—that?"

feeling of happiness the housewife came out with a reliable-looking hoe. You needn't have gone to that trouble, madam," said the weary one, sizing up the farm implement. "I never use a hoe in cleaning out a gutter." "Never use a hoe!" said the woman with a wondering expression. "What do you use, then, a shovel?" "No, madam," replied the hobo, starting for the back gate, "my method is to pray for rain."

Miss Wells, the teacher, was delivering the final lecture of the term, and she dwelt with considerable emphasis on the fact that each student should devote all the intervening time preparing for the final examinations.

"The examination papers," she said, "are now in the hands of the printer. Are there any questions to be asked?"

Silenced prevailed for a moment and then a voice timidly inquired: "Who's the printer?"

The Exception.

"The letter killeth," croaked a victim of the mistaken faith that saddens, but got no farther. Before there was time for the completion of the quoter's sentence the little boy present interposed a persistent objection. "Not all letters don't," he cried stoutly. "For me'n Erlie had an awful time learnin' the letter Z, but it ain't killed us yet!"
